Now she was a grown woman with too many for whose safety she feared. Luciana's husband, Stefano, Duca di Drago, brother to the queen of Tyrrhia, was currently away fighting in the war against the Turks. Her grandmother, the Romani Queen, was at an age when death might easily claim her. And Luciana's own beloved sister Alessandra was at the Tyrrhian court, an innocent among courtiers far too well-versed in intrigue. But the truth would prove far more dreadful than Luciana's worst fears. For not only was Alessa dead, but her very soul was imperiled by the way she had died. Luciana had no choice but to journey to the White King's Court to seek out the one responsible. However, the silken magic of the Rom might not prove strong enough to defeat the dark sorcery which had stolen her sister's spirit, and now threatened to turn this power against the royal court.

THE SILKEN SHROUD BOOK #2 $22.95

Romani magic had gifted the princess Alessandra with the blessing of the Fairy folk. So when death claimed her at the White King's Court in Tyrrhia, not only her own clan and the man she loved, Maggiore Manderò di Montago, but the Fairy folk, too, cried out for justice and revenge. For Alessandra's corpse had been stolen-bound by spells to entrap her soul-so her energy could be used to work dark magic. If her body wasn't found and her soul wasn't set free within a year, she would be transformed into a creature of evil. Alessa is held by a master of the dark arts, a man who has a high position in the Church. Even with the magic of the Rom and the Fairy folk to aid him, Manderò would be in terrible jeopardy as he sought to find and free Alessa from her earthly prison. Yet he must try at all costs, for the stakes are far higher than the loss of one soul. If the enemy's plans cannot be overturned, all Tyrrhia might be plunged into a religious war.

At this uncertain time, magical and diabolical plots converge, threatening the young heirs, their guardians, and the peace and stability of the kingdom.
